

catskill house

Sited on a ridge overlooking the Hudson River valley, the picturesque angles of this house evoke both the gabled roofs of older country retreats and the sculptural rock outcroppings of the surrounding hillside. Interior spaces are arranged around a stone ridge which actually cuts through a central "earth room," continuing the dialogue between natural and architectural forms.

Many energy-conserving aspects are incorporated into this project, including superinsulation and passive solar heating.

completion 1999

Kiss + Cathcart, Architects

150 Nassau Street
New York, NY 10038
tel 212 513 1711
fax 212 513 7267
www.kisscathcart.com